DEMOCRATS FACE TEST AT VIRGINIA STATE CONVENTION

Meeting This Week Will See Split or Solidarity.

Special Dispatch to The Star. RICHMOND, Va., May 15 .- Tomorrow the democrats of the state will begin to move toward Rosnoke for the state convention, which will Thompson, with two brands of Amername delegates to the national contional committee and name a state gave the governor needed advertising at chairman. The convention itself will a psychological moment.

Just how true will be the claim and the belief that the old factional lines have been adjusted will be disclosed when the election of the delegates is completed. If the old rivals have gotten together then all will be plain sailing. If there is coming to the front a new faction it will be forced to the open in order to make good the ciaim that there is to be a new and complete "anti" organization, the same to be for a specific object—the ousting of all men from political life who will not align with the new

One of the big things is the selection of the delegates at large. There will be four, possibly eight, of these. Who will be the fourth man? That is the question that comes to the front at this time. State Chairman James may be the choice of the convention. Friends of Harry St. George Tucker want to have him sent, and it is be-lieved that Mr. Tucker will have the support of the new faction that is more or less in the forming. That the convention may determine to send eight and thus prevent any friction the prediction of some of the poli-

of the old lines will be when the district delegations begin the choice of delegates for the districts. That will show just what is the real situation. Indicating the sentiment of the people in many directions, it is pointed out that very many of the counties have held meetings and have passed resolutions indorsing Senators Swanon and Glass and the national ad-

And Senator Glass is understood to be strong in his sup-port of Mr. McAdoo for President. Will ne carry his vote to the latter?

Two New Developments Seen. Just two new developments in the olitics of the state have come to the surface: The positive announcement on the part of Delegate Kenneth N. Gilpin of Clarke that he is in the race for Beutenant governor, and the statement that John Garland Pollard. have three delegates, including United the first in the Interstate Commerce department. Washington. that he will not seek the gubernatorial nomination this year. Mr. Pollard took a fling at the prize four years ago, resulting in the nomination of the present governor, who received more votes than either of his competitors and about 11,000 less than both of them together. Mr. Glipin and Mr. Pollard were both in the Army work, the former in active services, while Mr. Pollard were both in the Army work, the former in active services, while Mr. Pollard washing to the welfare work. Mr. Glipin is against prohibition, says he is for the welfare work. Mr. Glipin is at the exsects and intends to make a vigorous campaign. Mr. Pollard says his duties in Washington are such that he is preciuded from making any sort of a campaign, but that he may mort of a campaign, but that he may sort of a campaign, but that he may mort of a campaign, but that he may mort of a campaign, but that he may sort of a campaign, but that he may and the exsects and intends to make any sort of a campaign, but that he may make an offer next time. Representative Montague of this district may find a hotter fight over him in the election next November than he anticipates. The report is growing here that the labor element is so much opposed to him that they will remain out of the August primary and then combine with the re-publicans in the fall election and seek to defeat him. The labor people are strong for government owner-ship of the railroads, and it is on this rock that the split will come, if one does come. Heretofore the labor people have fought all their political battles in the ranks of the party, but the talk is growing that they will vote to suit themselves this time and keep out of the democratic primary. out of the democratic primary. ### GOV. LOWDEN TO MEET LEADERS IN CHICAGO

Will Make City His Headquarters During the Ante-Convention

Campaign. CHICAGO, May 15 .- Gov. Frank O

Lowden came to Chicago the latter part of this week following the strenuous days at Springfield, where he completely routed the forces of Mayor William Hale Thompson in the state convention, and it is believed the governor will spend most of his time here during the remainder of the campaign, meeting leaders from the different states. The sensational clash between Lowden and icanism the issue, appears to have attracted nation-wide attention, and many political leaders believe that it Already Lowden is said to have promised to support United States Senator Lawrence Y. Sherman for republican national committeeman, which should mean defeat for Mayor Thompson in his campaign for re-election.

That the politicians feel the Illinois battle has given Lowden greater pressige and enhanced his chances for success in the national convention is indicated by the telegrams and the number of party leaders who are cago's city administration. Already was apportioned $31 504 50 and the sul

NEW ORLEANS, May 15 .- The United

Selection of Date to Be Made by Mr. Thurston for Three Which Are Still Running.

The three night schools which have been kept in operation since the forced closing of the others last month, due to the lack of sufficient appropriations, will cease to function on either June 4 or 7. This decision was reached yester-day by Walter B. Patterson, director of the public night schools, after a report from principals of the three night institutions showing the exact cost of operation. Director Patterson submitted a letter to Supt. of Schools Thurston, showing the remaining fund of the night school appropriation, and pointing out that at the present rate of operation the three schools incognibly will be forced to close the first week in June. It has been left to the superintendent to decide on which of the two dates selected by Mr. Pat-terson the institutions will close. When the funds for operating the night school system became almost depleted last month, Director Patter-son evolved the plan of continuing the running of three night schools, so as to permit prospective college stu-dents to obtain the benefit of the lengthened course, and thereby get the attendance merits required by the colleges. This plan met the ap-proval of both Supt. Thurston and the board of education.

Business High School is the only white night institution now open. Enrollment in the two special classes here has reached the 1,100 mark.
